

Alexey Chumak

Trainee / Junior Frontend Developer

Fast learner, hardworking and friendly. Front-end development for me is not just a profession, it is an old dream and a favorite activity that I devote every free minute to. I plan to develop as much as possible in this direction and become an incredibly competent full-stack developer who solves all the tasks. My motivation is to become the best in my profession, because this will allow me to realize myself as a successful person and contribute to the development of the company I work for.
